

POVERTY IS MORE THAN JUST DOLLARS & CENTS

“Last year, it was my privilege as a mentor to watch the student matched with me gain personal confidence. At our first meeting, she sat very still and barely spoke two words. By the end of the year, she smiled constantly and talked about everything she could think of! My relationship with her has certainly been one of the most meaningful parts of my high school career.”

United Way funds programs that help children and youth achieve their potential. Last year, 137 youth were matched with a mentor in United Way-funded programs.
